

It's a 1st!

Netherton's launched their greeting card business at the Business Design Centre, London in 2010. Over the years they have attended most of the trade shows but have never ventured as far north as Scotland. The company is based in Cornwall and they felt it was time to brave the 550 mile journey, whatever the weather, to showcase their wonderful range of blank art cards to a new audience. "We have had very good reports of the Scotland Trade Fair. A lovely venue, friendly people and buyers who are looking to buy – all sounds good to us!"

Netherton's has a diverse offering of art cards – something to appeal to everyone. We will be exhibiting new products to our existing ranges as well introducing some totally brand new designs from our latest artists. We are especially delighted to showcase some new cards by George Gale which have been specifically designed for this show!
